M. McKinney Buys The Shingle Mill

The Wrangell Shingle Mill belonging to the Gano Estate was sold at public auction last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Marion McKinney bidding the mill in for the consideration of $1200. E. E. Smith who has been acting as administrator for the estate conducted the sale on the order of the court.

Mr. M. McKinney, the new owner, has been working at the mill for the past two years as sawyer and is a first class mill man and knows the shingle business from a to z. The new owner will make several improvements in the mill at once. The present style of trimming the shingle blocks which is done with an axe will be supplanted with an up-to-date knee bolting saw this will also do away with the services of one extra man. Several other improvements will be made, and Mr. McKinney expects to be able to start up early in the season next year.

Taken for a moose while hunting at Katchemak bay, an old timer, known all over Alaska as "Siwash" Brown, was accidentally shot and killed by his son the other day. Mr. Brown has for many years carried the mail between Homer and Iliamna.

Reported That Co-operative Co. Will Move

According to a rumor, the Alaska Co-operative Fishing & Packing Association, which now has a cold storage and receiving rooms on the St. Michael Dock, will move in the near future to a plant to be erected at the south end of Wrangell Narrows. As Manager J. H. McGehee is away from town today it was impossible to confirm the story or get the particulars but many states that the move is anticipated.

Little Schooner In Port On Long Trip

The schooner P. J. Abler of Nome, was in port yesterday morning on her way North with a full cargo. The Abler is a large three mast power schooner and is bound for ports on the Kuskowim River. Among her crew was Oscar Case, a well known Wrangell boy, who is making the trip on her as an able seaman.

Harry Lypoldt, who has for the past summer has been at the head of the drag net survey in this section, left on a late boat last week for his home in Washington D. C.

Petersburg Ball Game Postponed

The game of base ball which was scheduled to be played last Sunday on the local grounds between the Wrangell boys and the Petersburg boy failed to materialize on account of the rainy weather.

Several of the Petersburg team together with the Petersburg orchestra came over Saturday evening to attend the dance at the Rink Saturday night. The orchestra furnished the music for the event to the satisfaction of everyone present. A good crowd of local people turned out to help show the visitors a goodtime which they did in regular Wrangell.

The ball game between the two teams has been postponed to a later date.

W. B. Connell, an old timer in Alaska, has been drowned while making an attempt to swim the Koyukuk river. He was a powerful swimmer, but the extreme coldness of the water is believed to have brought on cramps.

Judge Brown, of Valdez, has refused the application of the school board for a mandamus to compel the town council to make a certain cash appropriation for school purposes.

Wickersham Our Next Governor?

Fairbanks' Alaska Aug. 19. The latest in Alaska politics is that Delegate Wickersham will seek appointment as Governor, provided the Republicans carry the next national election and provided further that the Northern political warriors can make the right lineup. Territorial Senator Dan Sutherland, of Ruby, is slated to succeed Wickersham as delegate. He was to have had the nomination last fall upon Delegate Wickersham's withdrawal, but the outlook became so grave on account of widespread Democratic organization that Wickersham concluded to again make the race, and won handsly.

Since last winter he has announced himself a republican instead of an independent as formerly and has spent this summer in the North for the first time in six years. He is busying himself generally with public matters, as might be expected.

Between times he is working on a history of Alaska, which will not be ready for publication for about two years. Incidentally he is looking after his political fences, and the report that he aspires to the governorship is believed by local politicians generally. —Seattle P. I.

Finds A Great Lake Of Natural Oil

That a whole lake of oil, great flowing natural wells and immense streams of the fluid have been discovered to the northward of Seward peninsula is the amazing statement brought to Nome by the Revenue cutter Bear, and a statement proven by photographs taken and brought here by the discoverer of what apparently means nothing less than a vastly greater find than any gold fields within the limits of the territory.

Vanvalin is the name of the discoverer. He was picked up by the Bear at Wainright just south of the place of discovery of the extraordinary oil lake. The lake is situated between Wainright and Point Barrow in the extreme north of Alaska. The photographs taken by Vanvalin show clearly that the lake of oil is of large extent, that an extraordinary flow of oil is taking place and that some of the channels through which the oil flows have over two feet depth of the fluid. The lake contains oil of a very color and density. The story has created a sensation at Nome and a stampede is sure to result.

Alaska Has Immense Output For 1914

In a bulletin issued by the United States Geological Survey, it is officially announced that the value of Alaska's 1914 output of gold, silver and copper is $18,835,520.

Great Arctic Explorer Is Safe

Nome, Sept. 20. —Dr. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Canadian explorer, is reported safe on Banks Island. The schooner Ruby has arrived with dispatches from him. Dr. Stefansson has been missing since April, 1914, and practically all hope for his safety had been abandoned.

Petersburg To Have City Light System

Petersburg is making preparations for the installation of a first class lighting system for city. Mr. Fred Purinton passed through south on the Al-Ki last week bound for the sound where he will purchase the necessary equipment and bring it north within a short time.

Agricultural item.—Alaska farmers are handicapped by the necessity of "slugging" their cucumbers to make sure that they are not watermelons. —Seattle P. I.

The estimated gold output of the Yukon for 1915 is $4,750,000.

A good show at the Photoshow tonight.

W. E. Parrott Raises Many Potatoes

One of the coming industries of Alaska that is more or less overlooked locally and which is coming to the front in amazing fashion is the agricultural possibilities. Mr. W. E. Parrott is at present harvesting one of the finest potato crops imaginable and is offering them for sale to the local market for the small price of two dollars per sack delivered to your home. The potatoes are far superior to any raised outside, all of them being large and as solid as a rock, and not one among them has a rust spot in the center, as is found in many potatoes raised in high dry climates. Mr. Parrott's farm is situated on the eastern shore of Brown's Island about eight miles from Wrangell, and is a revelation of Alaskan agricultural possibilities to anyone who will make the trip over there and investigate. Potatoes is not all that Mr. Parrott raises by a long ways, as he has some of the finest heads of cabbage you ever seen and turnips and carrots that would take a prize in most any agricultural fair. Mr. Parrott also has corn and pole beans that are higher than a mans head.

Mr. Parrott will this year have for the market about a hundred and fifty sacks of potatoes, and is planning a larger crop next year.

What Eastern Papers Say Of Coming Alaska Celebration

[From Schenectady (N. Y.) Gazette, Aug. 14, 1915]

"An Alaskan Exposition"

Alaska is to have an exposition. It is already planning and has set the date - early in the summer of 1917, when Alaska will be fifty years old as an American territory, it having been acquired in 1867.

The idea is not altogether to attract tourists to Alaska as visitors. The Alaskans want to get them there so that they may see the resources and possibilities of the territory in the hope that some of them will become settlers.

Such an exposition will prove sufficiently attractive to overcome the handicap - so far as the east is concerned - of a rather long and somewhat expensive journey.

The public is at last beginning to know more about Alaska to realize that it is not a cold, desolate land, but a magnificent empire much of which has a climate as good or better than that along the northern Atlantic seaboard. It is being called a wonderland, as it is, and curiosity concerning it will take many a tourist there when the exposition is held.

Judge Tucker, of Nome, has refused to extend saloon licenses beyond May 1, 1916, because he anticipates that at that time prohibition will prevail in Alaska.

A paper printed in the Third division says: The First division is still terribly exercised over the miserable little forest fund which it tried to keep all to itself.

Denver, Col. Sept. 19.—Ladies, if you would sweeten your already charming disposition, practice walking pigeon-toed. That's the advice of Dr. Nathan Wallace of this city noted foot specialist.

He says it is normal for women to toe in, and that at present French heels and narrow toes, plus toeing out, are throwing the strain of the body on the wrong muscles and bones.

"You can pretty nearly bank on it that an ill-tempered woman toes out," said the doctor today.

Ore So Rich That Have To Use Chisel

A. G. de Sherbinin has received word of a strike in Manheson, Ontario, where was once railroad contracting, and where they have now discovered ore so rich that it cannot be drilled, chisels having to be used instead. In some cases the miners take almost pure gold from the ledge and ship it direct to the Ottawa mint. In six weeks the Dominion Reduction company took out three quarters of a million from their property, in which they have a shaft only ninety feet deep.

AVIATION TAKES NERVE.

And When That Is Lost the Aeronaut Should Fly No More.

He who flies constantly must look to one personal risk, which may vary according to the characteristics of the individual. This is the danger a man may incur by becoming a little careless while in the air. There is the possibility, in fact, that familiarity may breed not actual contempt, but a temporary relaxation of vigilance, and piloting an aeroplane needs such watchfulness, such minute precision, that any "staleness" on the part of the man at the wheel or lever represents a peril that is very real.

The pilot who flies a great deal should remind himself constantly that there is no room for error in the handling of aircraft.

A loss of confidence not difficult to understand is suffered by an air man sometimes after he has been the victim of a serious fall, and in similar circumstances a jockey, or, say, a racing motorist, may be robbed of nerve. When a pilot does lose judgment as the outcome of a bad mishap his wisest course is to cease to fly. With a broken nerve he is a menace to himself and to others as well.—Claude Grahame White in National Review.

Stone In the Heart.

A Greek woman employed in the American hospital in Caesarea, Turkey, was stirred by a revival. She straightway asked leave to visit a woman whom she had injured and to whom she had not spoken for ten years. When she trudged through the snow three or four miles to ask her "enemy's" forgiveness her relatives were sure she had gone daft, but the next day when she came back to the hospital she said, "I've made peace, and the stone in my heart is gone."

Bread.

An English writer on institutional housekeeping advises that, where economy is studied, bread should not be eaten before it is thirty-six hours old. After three days it becomes stale and unpalatable.

Duffer—My wife got a liver out of me today with one happy remark. Puffer—Let's have it. Duffer—She told our boy Willie that she was his nearest relative, but that I was his closest.—Indianapolis Star.

Couldn't Deny It.

"You're a two faced man," exclaimed the disappointed office seeker. "I'm not afraid to tell you so." "Two faced?" smiled the eminent statesman. "My dear friend, I am worse than that. The papers have printed fifty different portraits of me and no two of them look alike."—Chicago Tribune.

Probably.

The witness testified that he had been knocked down by a motorcar and that the chauffeur, who was joy riding had given no warning of his approach. "Do you mean," asked the judge, "that he didn't have a horn?" "No, your honor," replied the witness; "I think he'd had too many."—Judge.

LIVE WITH A PURPOSE.

Seize then the minutes as they pass. The wool of life is thought. Warm up the colors; let them glow by fire or fancy fraught. Live to some purpose; make thy life a gift of use to thee—a joy, a good, a golden hope, a heavenly argosy.—Colendge.

How Paul Jones Countered.

When the English government denounced John Paul Jones as a pirate the American naval hero neatly countered. He replied that he had looked in the dictionary and found a pirate defined as "an enemy of mankind," and, "as England was then at war with the whole of America, the greater part of Europe and much of Asia, not to speak of a bit of Africa, she in point of fact came as near being the enemy of mankind as could well be conceived and that England was therefore the pirate and not Paul Jones."
